Trumps Nephew – is the LGBT tide turning?

A pro-Trump rap group's single titled "Boycott Target" has taken off online, racking up millions of views and reaching #2 on iTunes Charts.

Forgiato Blow, Jimmy Levy, Nick Nittoli, and Stoney Dudebro created the hit song, boasting lyrics about the US retail giant Target "targeting" children with sexualised goods.

"There's a cleanup on every aisle/Target is targetin' your kids," the song's lyrics open. "This agenda's gotta stop, they know we gonna win."

"Target, Target, yeah they targetin'/Target, Target, yeah they target kids," the song goes, continuing on to lyrics about the LGBT agenda going "too far."

Target received a huge backlash to its "Pride" collection which included "tuck-friendly" bathing suits.

Target backtracked, removing some items from the front of stores to the back and also removing some items entirely.

"Let's hope this is the start of a cultural shift in the West. Parents should be able to go to the shops with their kids and not be subjected to homosexual propaganda," said FamilyVoice spokesman David d'Lima.
