Citipointe Christian College – Who will stand up for Christian Values?

A Christian School in Brisbane is standing up for Christian Values.

Citipointe Christian College has come under enormous fire for requiring parents to sign a contract with new clauses around gender identity and sexual orientation.

"This is what Christians believe and have done for thousands of years. Christianity delivered civilisation from these pagan practices," said FamilyVoice spokesman Greg Bondar.

"The 'Woke' television program 'The Project' did a hit job on the school over their Christian stand on Monday night.

"The Queensland Attorney General is suggesting that the school is not acting within the law. How is it not within the law to obey the Bible in our Christian country?

"The Queensland Education minister Grace Grace is encouraging 'parents, carers, or students at the school to report this to the Human Rights Commission'.

"The Queensland Government has gone rouge on this. Why are they attacking Christians? This is why we need a Federal Religious Discrimination bill to reign in these anti-Christian State Governments," said Greg Bondar.

Will Scott Morrison and the Federal Coalition stand up for Christian Values and protect this Christian school and other Christian schools like it from the State Government bullies?
