Melbourne council's woke anti-Christmas move a new low

The City of Stonnington, a Melbourne council, has moved to censor the word “Christmas” and instead use the absurd slogan “Make Merry” in its Christmas decorations.

“Australians are getting very annoyed by woke government decisions,” FamilyVoice spokesman David d’Lima said.

“The City of Stonnington has taken woke ideology to a new low with its attack on Christmas,” said d’Lima.

“Christmas is an important part of our culture. It is a time when Australians take a much-needed rest at the end of the year – it’s a shame that the woke kick into overdrive.”
