Put Fed Govt on a diet to tame inflation

The Albanese government needs to go on a diet to combat inflation, according to FamilyVoice Australia.

"Inflation is out of control and hurting families", said FamilyVoice spokesman David d'Lima.

"Families are bearing the brunt with yet another interest rate increase. This will only add more stress when many families are at the limit.

"The Albanese government needs to urgently put itself on a diet to tame inflation. The recent federal budget failed to properly address the inflation problem and now mortgage holders are paying once again."
