Defend your family with Castle Law!

FamilyVoice Australia supports the announcement, by the Member for Hinchinbrook, that he is planning to reintroduce “Castle Law” Bill. FamilyVoice Australia encourages the Queensland Parliament to support this Bill, which seeks to safeguard the right to self-defence.

“It’s time we stopped siding with criminals and instead allowed the innocent to protect their families. It’s your right to defend your castle,” said FamilyVoice Australia spokesman, Andrew McColl.

FamilyVoice Australia also seeks reforms which will allow the trial of pepper spray for personal use, enabling better self-defence for the people of Queensland. As crime continues to run rampant, our communities deserve the right to feel safe, “Castle Law” and pepper spray will go a long way to enabling this.

“Queensland Parliament should follow the example of other jurisdictions, such as the Northern Territory, so law-abiding people may defend themselves and their families,” said Andrew McColl.

FamilyVoice Australia, supports the right to self-defence as a foundational human right.
