What happened to the $275 power bill cut?

Anthony Albanese needs to reveal when he will deliver on his promise to cut power bills, according to advocacy group FamilyVoice Australia.

"Australian families are doing it tough right now", said FamilyVoice spokesman David d'Lima.

"The last thing they need to hear is that power bills will rise by over 50 percent.

"Anthony Albanese made an election promise to cut power bills by $275?

"Does this commitment still stand? The prime minister needs to urgently clarify."
